Thanks for the documents.

Yes absolutely! The meeting/discussion will be with the PRPs, TCEQ, EPA, Receiver, and stakeholders and trustees! Sorry for not making that clear.

Hi Raji –

Thanks for the reminder on this. Attached are the original receiver order for the Site and a successor receiver order for the current receiver. Please let me know if you have any questions or comments on these.

With regard to the reuse assessment mentioned in your e-mail – will the PRPs and the receiver have an opportunity to be stakeholders in those discussions as well?

Thanks.

Eric

I was asking Ed Quinones about the site reuse issue and he said that Genssler's entities still own the property but the Receiver has control over it. The latest court order should hopefully say what kind of authority the Receiver has. I know you were going to check with the PRP Group attorneys on this. One request I have is can you send me the latest copy of the state court receivership order? We can take a look and decide.

I did check with our Superfund Redevelopment Initiative Coordinator and she said once we figure out who has the authority to make decisions about the site we can meet with the stake holders – City of Pasadena, Harris County, and trustees to decide on the best reuse for the site. I have sent an email to the trustees this week and they indicated they will get back to me with a single point of contact to coordinate all the trustees efforts. Will keep you all posted.

Thanks.
